Corrections

In the last issue, Volume 35, Number 3, Sarah Kinser wrote a fine overview essay of the Arkansas Literary Festival, sponsored by Arkansas Literary Councils, Inc. In the editorial process, however, Ms. Kinser and the Development Director, Katie McManners, discovered a statistical error and made it known to me. I thought it was too late to correct that error, but in examining the last issue, I saw that I had removed the erroneous statistic; but in doing so I'd also removed some other material, which, unfortunately, creates a brief incoherency in Ms. Kinser's otherwise informative and clear article. The statistic that needs relaying is this: "According to the 2000 United States Census, 162, 464 Arkansans over the age of 25 have less than an eighth grade education." As well, it should be known that, to the knowledge of the ALC, the Arkansas Literary Festival is one of the only festivals to directly benefit adult literacy programs. I apologize both to Ms. Kinser and AR readers for my editorial oversight.

Furthermore, I take this opportunity to encourage all subscribers to attend this year's Arkansas Literary Festival. Arkansas Review again will have a booth, and we hope to see you there on April 21-23, in downtown Little Rock.
